From what is locally remembered of the lecessed gentleman, it would seem that Sir Thomas Sidgreaves came to the Colony on the 8th Sept. 1871, and took up the office of Chief Justice of the Settlements; a few years after holding this appointment he was decorated with the order of Knighthood. He was also an official member of the Legislative Council. In his capacity judge, Sir Thomas Sidgreaves was held in high respect by the members of the legal profession. His decisions were sound, and on appeal, they were invariably confirmed. He retired in February 1886 on an annual pension of $5,400. Prior to his departure he was entertained at a public dinner by the members of the Bar; with his retirement, the Chief Justice of the Colony no months longer held a seat in the Legislative Council.
